Kort præsentation

Since retirement, he has focussed on writing shorter pieces concerned with boundaries/margins/mobility and on empire and its aftereffects. He is also preparing a memoir currently entitled 'Living with British Post-Imperialism: a Memoir' From 2003 to 2016, Associate Professor in Political Theory and the History of Ideas at the University of Copenhagen. Previously (1993-2002) Lecturer/Reader in European Politics at the University of Surrey (UK). From 1977 to 1993, he was a member of the academic staff at the British Open University. He holds a B.A. in Philosophy, an M.A. in the History of Ideas, a Maîtrise de Philosophie, and Ph.D. in Government (from the London School of Economics).
Spring 2014: Honorary Research Fellow at University of Sussex Centre for Advanced International Theory
Spring 2010: Honorary University Fellow at the University of Exeter, UK
Current research interests centre on the spatial, geopolitical and identity construction of socio-political orders: their borders, boundaries and margins; and empires as non-sovereign-state forms extending over space. Longer-standing interests have been the meaning and historical evolution of practices of contention such as revolution and terrorism; and the validity and force of survivals from Enlightenment thought.
